

Unveiling Common Core – Throughout Northern California

Please attend and help spread the word of the following events revealing the truth of Common Core in November in Northern California. The expert speakers are: Dr. Sandra Stotsky (English professor emerita from the University of Arkansas), who was on the State School Board in Massachusetts and helped create the highest standards our nation had. She was on the validation committee for Common Core and refused to sign off on it, recognizing that the CC standards were not higher, but lower and very confusing; Dr. James Millgram (math professor Emeritus from Stanford) also was on the Common Core validation committee and refused to sign off on it, also recognizing the math standards are not higher but lower and were based on “social justice” and “special interest groups.” Angela Weinsinger is a member of the Travis Unified School District and a strong opponent of Common Core. Attorney Kevin Snider represents the Pacific Justice Institute, the creators of opt-out forms to get students out of the assessment testing and any surveys or questionnaires for Common Core.
